EQU SAFE^m is the world's first ever fully fire retardant, trackable horse blanket

THE PROBLEM:

Every" year" in" North" America" alone, thousands of horses are exposed to fires. In the last year there have been roughly 72,000 wildfires in the US, up 10% from years prior... and the numbers are growing.

numbers are growing. Currently there is NO method of "garment to protect the millions of" horses from unnecessary and often horrific burns" incurred" during" such" catastrophes." Horses are often not able to be evacuated in time," and it is common for commercial trailers to be blocked" from accessing" the main" roads." Such" was" the case" in" the in f a m o u s LILAC FIRE last December 2017" where"," in a last ditch atte m pt" to save lives,"450 horses were set loose at the San Luis Rey Downs Equestrian Centre ."Owners with no way to track their horses, "frantically posted photos on social media asking for help..."hot knowing where their beloved horses were and if"they had even survived. "We often hear about the death toll in these scenarios, "but what is often not reported or shown in the aftermath, "are the terrible burns and injuries sustained."

In 2017, there were 71,499 wildfires in the USA Alone

Introducing the Petsafe jacket

-Same protection as EQUISAFE Blanket -Patent Pending

The Equisafe and PETSAFE blanket and Jacket are meant to be used as a last resort emergency, evacuation covering ONLY. It's not to be used as an everyday blanket. It should be stored in a cool, dry area. In the event of a wildfire, it may help protect the horse or dog from falling embers or heat related burns when he's outside or being led to the safety of a trailer or car , or to wear in the trailer to prevent possible burns or flammability that can happen while evacuating. In the worst case scenario, when evacuation isn't possible, it can be worn if the horse has to be turned loose, where proper use of the 4G GPS may greatly increase the chances of location.

Whitney Cummings"

"A designer who dresses horses and humans." - The New Yorker

Dalia is an avid equestrian. She grew up riding and competing in hunters and jumpers and still actively trains and competes.

" My heart broke when I watched live coverage of the hundreds of horses running loose in a panic at San Luis Rey Downs. It was my birthday that day, and all I could think of was those horses and their poor owners. I kept thinking, we're living in the age of technology, we have to do better. When my own horse was affected by the Calabasas fires a few years ago the fire department actually told us to either turn the horses loose or hose them down so they "BURN" slower. That was one of the worst days of my life." This year, on her birthday which will mark the one year anniversary of the LILAC FIRE, Dalia's dream is to outfit all 450 horses at the San Luis Rey Downs Equestrian Centre with her new PETSAFE Jacket blanket. " Horses have given me some of the best memories of my life, and it's time to give back. This is the first of many innovations I plan to release this year to protect our amazing 4 legged friends.""
